MONDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 5.

SECRETS OF THE CONF. SEIONAL. -A CASO was lodged before the Court of Appeals on Friday in Paris by the Bishop of Bayenx, which is of interest to Catholics. A week ago an attachment was issued against a woman, as a witness in a case against a pri wate indvidual. She claimed to be the wife of a man named Calvados. The curate of Pontfarey was questioned by the justice of the confidences that the woman had made him; but the priest, entrenching himself behind the secrets of the confessional refused to answer.

The judge intergened, but could not over come the priest, whose resistance was founded on the assertion that he would lose, and with good reason, the confidence of his parishoner from the moment when they supposed he would violate the secrets which had been given him by virtue of his cloth. The judge condemned the curate to a fine of one hundred france, which is the maximum penalty allowed by the law against a de-faulting witness. On the formal order of the Bishop of Bayenx, an appeal has been lodged by the curate before the Court of Cassation. This is the first time that the Supreme Court will have occupied itself with an ecclesiastical question arising from an ordinary trial.
